

ABSTRACT

An encoder arrangement is described, consisting of a motor with a motor shaft, on which a timing disk is secured, a signal source for producing an optical signal as well as a beam mask for 5 shaping the optical signal. The arrangement is characterized in that the beam mask is provided with code bars having pit and land structures that have a diffraction and interference structure.